Rishi Budhrani

One of the freshest and most talented performers in the region today, Rishi is not only an excellent host, he is also a trained actor, award-winning comedian and a communications coach.

An extremely versatile host, Rishi is able to keep his delivery formal and classy but is also able to take the energy and fun levels up a notch to entertain the audiences, depending on the client's needs.

His background in the corporate training and education industry makes him an excellent choice for international conferences, awards ceremonies and forums/launches where delegates and ministers are present.

On the other hand, his experience as a professional actor and comedian makes him a hit with audiences at DnDs and other informal events.
